Sweet Suites for honeymoons

The Loden in Vancouver is made up of seventy-seven rooms. The eighteen hundred square foot penthouse suite is more than suitable for a lavish party or a family traveling with kids and a nanny. Most rooms look out over the city and the harbour. The surround sound system that allows you to enjoy music (your own on ipod or provided) in the bath or separate showers or water closet is just one of the features of this warm and woody room. The bathroom area is lush to say the least with fine stone tiles, a huge tub and equally large walk-in shower, plush towels and products by Molton Brown to spoil yourself. While the bedroom with its large wall mounted television, seating area and built-in desk has a brilliant view out of the floor-to-ceiling operable windows, the bathroom is not to be out done for lack of view. To take advantage of the view the walls of the bathroom are on sliders so that they can be removed not only to enhance the natural sunlight in the space but also to expose the view of the city and harbour beyond the floated mirrors and drop fixtures of the wash basin. The very comfortable Sealy mattresses provide a great sleep so that you feel refreshed to get up to the 24 hour yoga channel (the room comes with a mat) or run down to the beautifully appointed on-site gym. The attention to detail from the turndown service with a special gift each night (massage oils, loose teas), fresh flowers, fruit bowl and personalized hand written notes does everything to leave you feeling pampered and cared for.

The honey moon is really what you make of it, but with lots of help from some exceptional properties, it can be an extraordinary thing without having to carry a book of translated phrases like "can I get another blanket" - Enjoy your day and your honey moon! - Text by Glen Peloso

The Kensington in Calgary is a lovely boutique hotel with just 20 rooms and a brilliant little restaurant find called "Chef Table". It has the charm of an old estate home mixed with some brilliant art pieces throughout the lobby and lounge. The rooms are classically well appointed with excellent beds, large windows looking to the court yard. It is quiet and unassuming which makes it a perfect place to relax yet still be connected to the sites, sounds and culture of the city. With few rooms each guest feels so well cared for, it was more like visiting a friend with a lovely English country estate and the best chef in the country!
